We request all EMA members to kindly share with us yours / family members some notable achievement which can be published in our upcoming circular.

ISO 9001:2015

We the Managing Committee is proud to inform to all the members that EMA has been accredited with ISO 9001:2015 by UKAS (BRITAIN). The audit was held on 19.03.2018 at EMA office.

What is ISO 9001 (International Organization for Standardization)?

ISO 9001 is a standard that sets out the requirements for a quality management system. It helps any association to be more efficient and improve member's satisfaction.

Work in a more efficient way as all your processes will be aligned and understood by everyone in the association. This increases productivity and efficiency, bringing internal costs down.

What is quality management all about?

ISO 9001 builds on seven quality management principles. Following these principles will ensure your association is set up to consistently create value for its members. With these seven pillars firmly in place, implementing a quality management system will be much easier. The seven quality management principles are:

1. Customer focus

Meeting – and exceeding – member's need is the primary focus of quality management and will contribute to the long-term success of our organization. It is important to not only attract but also retain the confidence of our member's, so adapting to their future needs is key.

2. Leadership

Having a unified direction or mission that comes from strong leadership is essential to ensure that everyone in the organization understands what you are trying to achieve.

3. Engagement of people

Creating value for your member will be easier if you have competent, empowered and engaged people at all levels of your organization.

4. Process approach

Understanding activities as processes that link together and function as a system helps achieve more consistent and predictable results. People, teams and processes do not exist in a vacuum and ensuring everyone is familiar with the organization's activities and how they fit together will ultimately improve efficiency

5. Improvement

Successful organizations have an on-going focus on improvement. Reacting to changes in the internal and external environment is necessary if you want to continue to deliver value for members. This is of paramount importance today when conditions evolve so quickly.

6. Evidence-based decision making

Making decisions is never easy and naturally involves a degree of uncertainty, but ensuring your decisions are based on the analysis and evaluation of data is more likely to produce the desired result.

7. Relationship management

Today's organizations do not work in a vacuum. Identifying the important relationships you have with interested parties such as your suppliers – and setting out a plan to manage them – will drive sustained.
